France Makes Detailed Proposal For Halting War

WITHDRAWAL OF BRITISH FLEET ASKED

Premier Laval Makes Gesture After Conference Held In Paris

(Copyright 1935 by United Press)
PARIS, Oct. 15.—(UP)—Premier Pierre Laval has asked Great Britain to withdraw its home fleet ships from the Mediterranean as a gesture to enable him to seek a peaceful settlement of the Italian-Ethiopian crisis, an official source said today.

The disclosure was a sequel to a series of conferences by which Laval was understood to have embarked upon a new attempt to bring the Italian war on Ethiopia to a peaceful end.

No gesture to Italy could be so attractive, perhaps, as withdrawal of the great fighting ships sent from home waters in the British Isles to guard the entrances to the Mediterranean from Gibraltar and the Suez canal.

It was understood that Laval made his fleet request through Sir George Clerk, British ambassador, after a long talk with Vittorio Cerruti, Italian ambassador, last night.

It was said that Cerruti agreed that a more conciliatory atmosphere would be induced if the British fleet concentration were reduced.

Transmits Suggestion

Clerk already has transmitted to London Laval's suggestion, it was said, and a British reply is expected soon.

This reply, French belief is, will say that withdrawal of the home fleet would be possible only if Premier Benito Mussolini at the same time decided to stop his East African war.

Laval is said to believe that, if he is able to obtain the British fleet withdrawal coincident with a halt by Mussolini in his war plans, it will insure the success of his attempt at conciliation.

It was suggested that France favors conciliation through the Pope who would arrange for a meeting of the heads of the governments of Italy, France and Great Britain.

Italy is believed to have expressed willingness to call a halt on certain conditions, including withdrawal of the British fleet.

Laval Optimistic

It is said Laval himself is optimistic. But diplomatic circles believe that the British government would be put in a difficult position if it called the fleet back home and the Italian advance continued. Such a situation, it is pointed out, would be damaging politically in view of the prospect of an early parliamentary election, the first since October, 1931.

Even if Britain and Italy got together, Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia might prove an obstacle as he has said he would not cease to oppose the Italians until they withdraw from Ethiopian soil.

Brea Woman Believed To Be Youngest Grandmother At Age Of 33

By Miriam Samuelson
THERE ARE medals for this and honors for that, but this week's laurels go to the youngest grandmother, at least in the state of California, in the person of Mrs. Elsie Miller, 33, owner and proprietor of the Brea cafe, Brea, California.

Affectionately called Elsie or more recently "Granny" by the patrons of her cozy little cafe, she shuns publicity of all sort, complaining that "these bothersome reporters" interfere with her meal-serving routine.

Her grandmother is lusty 4-months old William E. Otis IV, son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Otis III of 337 Beverly place, this city who today are moving to Los Angeles. Mrs. Otis is 20 years old.

With the responsibilities of being a mother and grandmother, the young lady wears well, with a peachy and cream complexion which could make any high school girl envious, explaining perhaps, the lucrative offers from numerous Hollywood cosmeticians, all of which have been flatly turned down. This fair skin is topped with a halo of unbelievably gorgeous auburn hair. A pair of sparkling eyes, a flashing smile, and an agile girl figure completes the picture of our youngest grandmother.

Before establishing herself in Brea, where she has been for the past four months, Mrs. Miller was connected with the Santa Ana cafe. Prior to that she lived in Glendale and Phoenix, Ariz., and was born in St. Louis, Mo., where she spent her early childhood.

In addition to her cosmetic offerings she is the recipient of numerous magazine and newspaper offers for exclusive rights on pictures and life story, principal among which was that of the American magazine, which also had to take "No" for an answer.

DUM DUM BULLETS FIRED ON ETHIOPIANS FROM AIRPLANES

Copyright, 1935, by United Press

HARAR, Ethiopia, Oct. 15.—(UP)—Dr. Robert W. Hockman of Wheaton, Ill., heading a Red Cross unit stationed at Jijiga, formally reported today that Italian airplanes are shooting down Ethiopian troops from airplanes using machine guns with dum dum bullets.

Dr. Hockman said he is forwarding what he purports to be photographic proof to the emperor at Addis Ababa.

The dum dum is a soft-nosed bullet which expands on contact, making an ugly wound. They have been much used in African campaigns because the ordinary bullet fails to stop the rush of fanatical tribesmen. Their use is decried internationally and they were outlawed by a declaration of the second Hague conference in 1899.

Dr. Hockman said his proof of the use of dum-dum bullets by the Italian invaders was established by a medical analysis of Ethiopian victims. Corroboration of his finds, he said, was contained in photographs sent to Addis Ababa.

Dejazmatch (General) Nassib, commander of the Ethiopian forces on the southern front before Harar and Jijiga, heard Dr. Hockman's report shortly after he had ordered a new offensive along the Ogaden front.

He was reported to be preparing to throw 150,000 men into battle against 50,000 or 60,000 Italian troops under General Rodolfo Graziani, moving up from the Italian Somaliland frontier.

Colonel Atou Ambay, attached to Nassib's staff, arrived in Harar from the Ogaden front with a hundred-pound gas bomb, which he exhibited at the government palace. The gas bomb was photographed by newspaper cameramen.

The first victim of the dum dum bullet allegedly used by the Italians was Youssouf Ahmed, of the fierce Mohammedan Rer Guereha tribe.

Military authorities took added precautions today to preserve the morale of their troops and the native populations after reports of Italian bombings and gas attacks.

DISSOLUTION OF NEWPORT BEACH COOPERATIVE ASKED IN SUIT FILED YESTERDAY

Charging mismanagement on the part of officers of the Newport Beach unit of the United Cooperatives of Orange County, one director and a group of members of that unit late yesterday filed suit in superior court for a dissolution of the unit and an accounting of its assets, estimated to be worth $900.

President Spencer Allen, General, W. F. Parks and Mary Brock Manager, C. E. Hall and other officers of the Newport Beach unit, which has about 100 members, were accused of collecting double pay, neglecting the unit's property, and production of provisions; discontinuing practically all profitable projects; and allowing produce to rot in the fields.

President Allen, who is also co-ordinator for five other units, Santa Ana, Fullerton, La Habra, Anaheim and Orange, was charged with partiality toward those units, to the detriment of Newport Beach unit, by delivering Newport Beach produce to them without collecting for it.

FURTHER CHARGES

Members of the unit, it was further charged, have been compelled to pay cash for provisions that were purchased with federal money, and were not allowed to use their "points" in making payment. The "points" are obtained by services they render the unit.

The complaint for dissolution was brought by K. M. Corson, a director of the unit; Charles W. Dennis, N. C. Lamberton, N. Wright, Fred Witz, Ben Helmung, H. A. Luhrs, J. E. VaRhyne, Helen McCorndale, Hazel Gill, Homer A. Dye, W. F. Cooper, Ruby Wright, Jack Wright, Roy Moody, Ed Suy-

The slowness of the Italian advance is likely to postpone a decisive battle for the country between Gorrarel and Jiglila, key to Harar and Djibouti-Addis Ababa railroad.

The campaign on the Ogaden front, it is indicated, will be one for water holes. Water is scarce and progress will be almost impossible to the side which is driven from it. In the end, it is indicated that the Ethiopians will try to protect the plateau as it rises from the Ogaden lowlands to the interior.

ITALIAN TROOPS AT TRIPOLI FOR DRIVE

ROME, Oct. 15.—(UP)—The Italian general staff has secretly sent another army division of 17,000 men and several bombing squadrons to Italian Libya, bordering Egypt, it was learned today from an unimpeachable authority.

The last detachments of the division in question, whose mobilization was not announced in the Italian newspapers, has arrived at Tripoli.

The division, known as the Metauro, from Ancona, will increase Italy's regular army forces in Libya to about 50,000, all shipped since the concentration of British ships in the Mediterranean.

It was explained the movement was made as a precautionary measure in event of an Italian-British conflict.

The Metauro division is temporarily stationed at Tripoli but it is believed it will soon be moved to the Libyan-Egyptian frontier to join the Asseita division, based at Derna, and the Cossaria division, based at Benghasi.

It was learned there has been an important movement of native camel cavalry across the Libyan desert towards the Egyptian frontier.

It was learned the Italians are shipping a considerable number of airplanes, especially bombing planes, to Libya.

* It was reported without confirmation that eight bombing squadrons or about 50 planes, and a group of pursuit planes recently flew to the colony.

The troop movement to East Africa meanwhile continued unabated. Sixteen ships are loading for departure this week.

The S. S. Italia sailed from Naples today with 50 officers and 520 soldiers. It will embark an additional 24 officers and 665 soldiers at Messina.

Mulhern today announced the appointment of Carl Lindman, former paymaster for SERA, as project engineer for the WPA in Orange county.

TREASURER READY TO SUBMIT RECORDS

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Oct. 15.—(UP)—Records of State Treasurer Charles G. Johnson's deposits of state funds as well as his personal accounts will be submitted for grand jury inspection when the investigation into affairs of the state treasury is resumed late this week, District Attorney Otho Babcock announced today.

Officials of banks in Los Angeles, San Francisco and Oakland have been subpoenaed to appear before the jury, probably next Friday, Babcock said. Those summoned included W. W. Cottier, cashier, Security First National Bank, Los Angeles; F. L. Moss, cashier, Anglo-California National Bank, San Francisco; Joseph H. Grut, receiver for the Central National Bank, Oakland, and City Manager John F. Hassler, Oakland, former cashier of the Central National Bank.

HULL SAYS AMERICA READY TO DEFEND

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—(UP)—Secretary of State Cordell Hull, setting forth the American position and policies toward peace and war, today literally laid down a Golden Rule for peacefully-inclined nations to follow.

"This country has no aggressive ambition of any kind," he declared. "We make no threat against the territory or the safety of any other country. We are prepared to defend ourselves against any threat to our own safety and welfare. We are determined not to enter into armed conflicts that may arise between other countries. And to enforce such policies as may be required to avoid that risk."

Considered one of the shortest, most complete statements of American foreign policy outlined by any secretary of state in recent times, this summation was given by Hull in an address on the program of the fifth annual New York Her- on current af-

With Santa Anas

A. J. Cruckshank left here on October 1 with a number of close friends, to hunt deer. They had been going to the same part of the country for many years, as an annual vacation. In the party were H. J. Forgy, and son Fred Forgy, well known Santa Ana attorneys; Art McFadden, well known rancher, Frank Ireland, of Elsinore, E. Anderson and A. F. Walker. They expected to return here this week.

They have failed to utilize ground for production of provisions during the past year, and nine months ago, eliminated a fishing boat and fish smoking project that had paid considerable profit; practically every profitable project has been stopped, it is claimed.

The court is asked to dissolve the unit, apply its assets to debts and court expenses, then distribute the remainder among the members in proportion to their rights, after their points are determined by the court. The court is also asked to restrain the defendants from disposing of any assets.

Pioneer Citizen

The news of the tragedy, as it was announced in Santa Ana early today, threw a pall over the entire city. Hundreds of inquiries have been made by friends as to the latest word from the north country. Register telephones have been busy throughout the morning.

Five men in Santa Ana are as well known here as A. J. Cruckshank. He is identified with the city's life and history as are few citizens. President of the First National Bank for 17 years, prior to two years ago when he retired, he came to Santa Ana when a young man from Gladbrook, Iowa, assisting his father, Miles Cruckshank, in the foundation of the bank which under his own supervision became the leading bank here.

A foreign office spokesman, discussing the note, said Japan could not accept a British suggestion for mutual declaration of building programs. He repeated that Japan had presented its policies at the abortive London naval conversations in which the United States participated.

It was understood that the note would repeat Japan's demand for naval equality with Great Britain and the United States. Cabinet ministers were understood to maintain their hope that discussion of limitation on an equality basis would be agreed to, without prejudice to possible business negotiations.

SEX SLAYER PAYS PENALTY OF DEATH

JOILET, Ill., Oct. 15.—(UP)—Bolstered by new faith in religion, Gerald Thompson, 26, sex slayer of Mildred Hallmark, 19, met death in the electric chair today with a prayer on his lips.

Behind a glass partition were nearly 500 witnesses, including John Hallmark, father of the girl. He nearly collapsed. Guards helped him from the chamber. When he had regained composure, he said:

"The family is satisfied. We would have been satisfied with nothing less."

Thompson walked the 25 steps to the death chamber with a firm step after reading a letter from Lola Hughes, Peoria, the one girl for whom he professed affection. His diary contained the names of 16 girls he had attacked.

Still in Sonora

The publisher's companions were said to be still in Sonora.

Reports of further deportations by the roving insurrectionists were brought here by the crew of a Southern Pacific de Mexico passenger train this morning.

Trainmen said bridges had been burned out at Santa Ana and in Imuris, delaying them more than three hours. A small detachment of federal troops rode the engine.

A near-panic enveloped Nogales last night when fears were aroused the insurrectionists would strike here. Authorities appealed to police officials at Nogales, Ariz., for machine guns but the request was denied.

The town was a hotbed of wild rumors. Most citizens remained behind barred doors. Others, who ventured outside, carried rifles across their shoulders, fearing of momentary attack. The panic died down as the hours passed without bringing any further reports of nearby raids.

PRESIDENT FISHES AT PERLAS ISLANDS

ABOARD U. S. S. HOUSTON, Oct. 15.—(UP)—The fishing waters of Panama bay around the Perlas islands were trolled today by President Roosevelt. A Panama guide directed him to favorite places of island fishermen.

Gov. Julian L. Schley of the Canal Zone returned to his office today to prepare for a presidential inspection of the Zone later in the week. He was entertained aboard the Houston yesterday on his visit to extend the official welcome.

Mr. Roosevelt regretted he was unable to send a message for California's Newspaper week. Such messages are reserved for anniversaries, it was explained.

BABIES EXAMINED

COSTA MESA, Oct. 15.—Eighteen babies, including three new ones, Helen Joy Wright, Shirley Annette Tippett and Doris Mae Ogle, were examined at the Well Baby clinic held Monday in the Woman's clubhouse under the sponsorship of the Friday Afternoon club. Dr. Edward Lee Russell of the county health department, assisted by Miss Isabel Durgan, was in charge of the class. Mrs. D. J. Dodge, child welfare head of the club, was in charge of arrangements.

Details of Plan

There was an unconfirmed report in Geneva that a specific plan had been advanced for ending the Italian war. Some sources said Laval advanced the plan to Cerruti; others that Cerruti advanced it to Laval. The plan was said to be:

1. Italy to halt its troops in their present positions.

2. Tigre province in Ethiopia to be made an autonomous state under an Italian protectorate. Tigre is the northern province, and Ras Haile Selassie Gugsa, governor of most of it, has surrendered to Italy.

3. Italy to obtain the eastern provinces of Ogaden and Harar.

4. Italy would agree to cession by Britain of the Port of Zella, in British Somaliland, to Ethiopia.

In return Ethiopia would permit Italy to build a railway linking Italian Somaliland and Eritrea.

5. The remainder of Ethiopia to be placed under a mandate system with dominant Italian influence, as proposed by the League of Nations.

6. Mussolini to consent to settlement of the dispute by the league council.

"The people have spoken, after being fully advised of the situation by the board," said Mays. Unless they speak again, through petitions bearing a large number of representative signatures, he would not be inclined to act, Hayes said.

Dr. Baker said she favored a statement from the board that no bond election will be called, unless demanded by the people.

M. B. Youel said he was not in favor of calling another election, unless strong petitions were filed.

Ridley Smith expressed the view that the board should call another election, if the people signify its desire for such action, by sufficiently strong petitions. Smith indicated that about a thousand signatures would be necessary to convince him of public sentiment in favor of another election. In such an event, it would be the board's duty to call one, he said.

Because the evacuation of old high school buildings cannot include the shop building, which work could not be carried on in tenement houses, the board last night approved a plan presented by Principal Lynn H. ## NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

— News Behind the News —

WASHINGTON

By Ray Tucker

SKETCH

President Roosevelt highlighted future administration policies for a conservative Democratic Senator before leaving on his western trip. It was the first of many conferences to be solicited by Mr. Roosevelt as a means of reconciling the faction he has alienated inside and outside Congress.

The President picked his weak spots with uncanny accuracy—business hostility and popular unrest over expenditures. He sought to impress on his visitor that he meant to turn over the responsibility for recovery to private interests. But besides laughing off fears that business and industry had anything to fear from him he gave three special pledges.

He said he did not intend to seek a constitutional amendment enlarging the power of the federal government. He declared he hoped to balance the budget at the earliest opportunity (though not for several years), counting on increasing revenues and diminishing expenditures. He said the major objective of relief moves would be to hand the problem back to local communities, with the government helping out on a small scale. The President did all the talking.

RETICENT

The White House is waiting to spring it at the proper time, but the President did not come off so badly from his canvass of the clergy's ideas on his social reforms.

The gallery of critics who assailed this kind of assaying of churchly sentiment apparently made up the vocalists. About 95 per cent who have replied praise the administration's social reforms and suggests new ones. They seemed to appreciate his personal letter to them and rose to the occasion. Despite the White House announcement that the communication went only to a "select list," almost every preacher in the land was honored. The list included many lay preachers who simply have a license to preach on Sunday.

WHITE HOUSE SIDES DECLINE

White House aides decline to explain how they happened to plagiarize Gov. Phil LaFollette's letter. They also refuse to tell who proposed the idea. Best guesses include Father Coughlin, Phil LaFollette himself and Mrs. Roosevelt. But the President's aides say the whole story won't be let out "until after we leave office."

PLANS

The Democrats have just weakened to the fact that they haven't any rabble-rousing orators for the 1936 campaign. Herbert Hoover makes a better speech than any member of the Cabinet and the "brain trust" can't thrill an audience. All the oratorical stars—Al Smith, Newton D. Baker, Al Ritchie, John W. Davis, Joe Ely, etc.—are in the opposite corner. And the GOP has Borah.

Mr. Roosevelt was the first to sense the lack of whoop-it-uppers. He talked it over with several advisers, and a quiet canvas disclosed that the party is ostracized and bankrupt. So the undercover plan is to draft Claude G. Bowers as head of the speakers bureau and director of the chorus boys. Author and diplomat Mr. Bowers once surprised close friends by a demonstration of rabble-rousing rarely equalled at the Capital. That was in the 1931 Jackson Day dinner.

DEMOCRATS GOING TO BANK

The Democrats are going to bank a lot on the spoken word in the next campaign. Whenever anybody mentions Republican gains to a Farleyite, or suggests that the President is slipping, the invariable reply is: "Wait until we open up!"

REGISTRY

The hardest task facing technicians in framing a workable Social Security system was to find a method for keeping track of workers drifting from city to city. It seemed there was no way to keep them from being lost in the social shuffle. German experience with stamp books was weighed and shelved.

A worker might pile up old age or unemployment credits while working in one state and then move on to another in a remote section of the country. How to record their contributions and benefits so as to insure full payment seemed an impossible problem. What made it worse was discovery of the number of foreign-born who often change their names, anglicizing and beautifying them year after year.

Two young Treasury sharks have figured out a fool-proof system. Every employee will be given an identification card and a number based on the date of birth. The key number is 00-00-00-00. Now, suppose the birthday was August 28, 1892. Then the identification number would be 08-28-92-00. The first "0" is for the eighth month of August, the "2" for the day of the month and the "92" for the year. If others happen to have the same birthday, the last two zeros can be replaced by distinctive numbers. All a man has to do is to remember the day he was born. Seems simple but it took a lot of heavy thinking.

LUCKLESS

The only animal on a farm which can enjoy a "more abundant life" because of electricity is a pig. You can milk a cow, carry a horse, permanent-wave a poodle and heat a pond for anemone ducks with electric appliances now in use or being developed. You can determine the luxuriance of flowers or the size of tomatoes by regulating the flow of current into pans where they sprout without roots. And a well-known "brain trustee" gets more eggs out of his hens by keeping electric lights on so as to fool them into thinking that the sun doesn't work under a code.

This may sound like fiction, but it won't be long before a Virginia farmhouse will be the stage for these magical tricks. Administration power planners are looking for a place to install every old and new appliance that can make life on a farm only a preparation for paradise. They say there are 200 ways of utilizing electricity to benefit agriculture, and that only about 20 are used on the best equipped farm.

The exhibit will be a feature of the International Power Conference to be held at Washington next year. But it will be constructed long before that as a means of making everybody electrically minded—except the pigs.

FAIR

Now that Al Smith has retired from active politics—at least temporarily—he is devoting all his time to his business of managing the Empire State building. But the old spirit which dazzled New Yorkers for more than a decade flares now and then.

Recently the organizers of a new trade association thought it would be a ten-strike for Mr. Smith to deliver the address at their first meeting. They found Al fairly warm to the proposition when they waited upon him in his office. Congratulating themselves on their good luck they were about to depart when Al halted them. "You folks must need offices for your new organization," he began. "We've got some fine vacancies in this building."

They explained, slightly embarrassed, that they had just rented quarters in Rockefeller Center. Then get John D. Rockefeller to make your speech," rasped Al.

NEW YORK

By James McMullan

SETTLEMENT

Informed New Yorkers figure forthcoming developments in the war crisis as follows. Mussolini has vindicated Italian military prestige and occupied a strip of Ethiopia useful or bargaining purposes. There is reason to believe he is ready for a compromise—but he has to present the world situation to his own people in such a way that they will realize it is wise to compromise. He can't afford to yield openly to League of Nations pressure—yet the overwhelming League vote in favor of sanctions offers an opportunity for diplomatic hedge without losing face. Meanwhile sanctions will be gentle enough to avoid any pretext for a general war. France will see to that.

The next step—after Italian military gains are consolidated—will probably be negotiations between Italy, France and England for a settlement of the Ethiopian controversy. Ethiopia will have very little to say about it. If Haile Selassie should try to act stubborn France and England will bring pressure enough to change his mind. He will be allowed to save his apparent independence but Italy will have a good solid foothold in his country under the guise of a protectorate or concessions or some similar euphemism. In general Mussolini will get most of what he wants.

Britain and France have another incentive for engineering a speedy settlement in addition to their desire to prevent a European conflagration. Race tension is increasing in some of their colonies. They need to appease irritation based on color before it becomes too acute.

EMIGRANTS

The outcome outlined above would ease one of Mussolini's most pressing problems—his overcrowded population. There will be room for a couple of hundred thousand Italian emigrants in the new African territory to be exploited.

Astute New York observers remark that Il Duce probably would not be in Africa now if the United States hadn't enacted the immigration restriction laws of 1922, 1924 and 1929. An average of over 157,000 Italians a year came to this country from the turn of the century until the first quota acts were signed. Since then there has been small satisfactory outlet for surplus Italians. They are practically barred from sparsely settled British dominions also. It isn't just rhetoric when Mussolini says that Italy must expand or explode.

The prospective emigrants to be shipped to Africa will doubtless be hand-picked from among those most likely to make trouble at home. That always used to be the system when they were pouring into the U. S. by every boat. Comment runs that Mussolini made a virtue of necessity when he subjected all his young men to hard-holed military regimentation. But when you have your restless youngsters regimented you must take them somewhere or they are likely to take you somewhere.

FORTIFIED

New Yorkers believe a cagy German hand was pulling the strings when Austria and Hungary refused to join the other League members in voting for sanctions against Italy. This sets a precedent that may be very useful to Germany later if and when she chooses to try military measures as a means of achieving her own ambitions. Also—since no League member is bound to apply sanctions against its will—it keeps a valuable trade route open between Germany and Italy.

Meanwhile the cultivation of friendly Anglo-German relations goes on assiduously. The Nazis are doing a sweet job of diplomatic and economic fortifying on both sides.

MOJAVE CHAPTER IN FIRST MEETING

FULLERTON, Oct. 15.—Mojave chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, opened its 11th year Monday with a meeting at Hughes cafe. Miss Florence Durkee, regent, presided.

The Rev. Virgil Ledbetter of the Anaheim Baptist church talked on "Ideals" and said the heritage of American traditions is sacred and should be held in sacred trust. He said he is not a pacifist and believes the people should be ready to defend their rights.

Two new types of work are to be undertaken, Miss Durkee announced. One is the collection of records on early California and another is assistance to the 17 schools paid for by the D. A. R.

Mrs. O. M. Thompson, regent last year, was presented with a gift. The Mojave chapter will enter a car in the Armistice day parade November 11. Since November 11 is their regular meeting date, they will join with Anaheim in a meeting November 15.

Regent Durkee made the following appointments: Americanism, Mrs. C. A. Neighbors; better films, Mrs. J. Arthur Miller; Children of the American Revolution, Mrs. W. E. Gunnell; conservation and thrift, Mrs. George E. Reed; correct use of the flag, Mrs. W. W. Blackmer; D. A. ## SOIL EROSION PROJECT LAND OWNERS TO ORGANIZE OCT. 30

OWNERS of property and operators of lands within the recently established 25,000 acre soil erosion control demonstration area in the vicinity of El Toro will meet Wednesday, October 30, to consider and perfect an organization, it was announced today by Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg.

The purpose of the association to be formed, Wahlberg said, is to have a representative group of property owners through which the federal agencies may negotiate matters of general or specific interest to the community involved in the soil conservation program that has been started in the El Toro district.

The move is being made at the suggestion of the Washington office of the Soil Conservation Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, as a more direct means of contacting the persons interested in the project; to disseminate information regarding the nature and effects of soil erosion and methods of controlling it and to encourage all farmers to adopt preventive erosion practices and control measures.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 p. m. October 30, at the Soil Conservation camp at El Toro. The local committee in charge of the meeting includes Ben Osterman,

GIVE FIGURES ON PRODUCTION COST OF HONEY

Completion of the seventh annual cost-of-production study covering the cost of producing honey in Orange county was announced today by Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg. The analysis of the cost of producing honey carried on by the farm advisor's office here is the only study of its kind concerning honey carried on in the state.

Six commercial honey producers, representative of the industry in Orange county, cooperated last year by supplying detailed cost data for the various operating phases of the business.

Some of the more important facts brought out by the study on the basis of the 1934 season are as follows: The average production of honey per colony, 42.9 pounds; average wax per colony, .49 pounds; labor cost per 100 colonies, $82.85; material cost, $87.07; overhead $31.89; interest and depreciation $41.54. Total cost of production $243.14 per 100 colonies.

The seven year averages embracing the cost summaries of 1927-1934 showed the average production of honey per colony for that period was 51.8 pounds.

Average wax production was .65 pounds. Average labor cost for the seven year period was $134.92 per 100 colonies; material costs $106.73; overhead $44.20; interest and depreciation $87.13; and total all costs $372.98 per 100 colonies.

Copies of the honey cost summaries are available at the farm advisor's office, Court House Annex, Santa Ana.

Church To Name Pastor Oct. 20

WESTMINSTER, Oct. 15.—Decision on a new pastor for Westminster Presbyterian church is expected to be reached at a congregational meeting called for next Sunday morning by the church's elders. The meeting will be held following the close of the regular morning service.

The pulpit has been vacant since the recent resignation of the pastor, Dr. John G. Klene, on account of failing health. Two ministers have occupied the pulpit since as prospective candidates for the place, the Rev. George Greer, for the past nine months assistant pastor, and the Rev. Alvin Larsen of Pasadena.

Dr. John G. Klene will act as moderator at the congregational meeting.

HOLD SHOWER AFFAIR

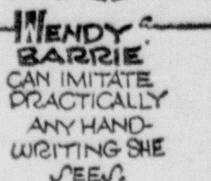

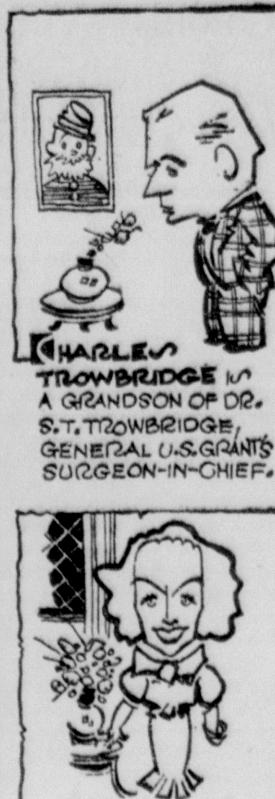

BUENA PARK, Oct. 15.—Mrs. Ned Johnston, of Los Angeles, entertained with a shower at the family ranch property on Stanton avenue recently honoring her sister-in-law, Mrs. Paul Johnston also of Los Angeles.

A version of the game of cootie was played during the afternoon.

Copies of the honey cost summaries are available at the farm advisor's office, Court House Annex, Santa Ana.

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 15.—There are 135 firms in Hollywood that manufacture movie cosmetics.

Corned beef must be bleached whenever it is served in movie scenes. The meat is so red that it would photograph black, otherwise.

Warner Oland, it has just been discovered, is an artist of considerable ability.

Stuart Erwin's pet nicknames for his baby daughter, June, are "Flopsie" and "Babe."

Warner Baxter and his wife seldom use more than three of the rooms in their 15-room mansion.

According to a recent edit of the Hays office, a woman no longer can be referred to as a man's mistress on the screen.

Dolores Del Rio has installed a "made-to-measure" gymnasium in her house. All equipment is made to fit her strength and capabilities.

Converting water into its component elements, and using the highly explosive hydrogen as fuel, a Dallas inventor has patented and constructed a working model of an engine said to substitute water for gasoline.

According to statistics of the weather bureau there are approximately 5000 acres of orchards equipped with heaters in Orange county, including both oil and solid fuel equipment. With an average of 50 heaters per acre there are about 250,000 heaters used on the protected acreage. The investment in heater equipment, storage facilities and heater fuel in Orange county will total approximately $1,000,000, according to the estimate of the farm advisor's office.

Guild Members Meet Thursday

SAN CLEMENTE, Oct. 15.—St. Clemente's Episcopal church will be the scene Thursday afternoon of a meeting of the Woman's auxiliary guild. Guests will be members of the Laguna Beach auxiliary of St. Mary's Episcopal church.

The Rev. Robert Hogarth, vicar of both parishes, will be present. Mrs. Emma Eupharet of Pasadena will address the group on the work of the church home for children in Pasadena.

Woman's Society Arranges Meeting

MIDWAY CITY, Oct. 15.—The monthly meeting of the Woman's society of the Midway City Community Friends church is being held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Ray Miller. Ann Lindbergh's book will be reviewed by Mrs. Anne L. Van Steenbergh.

Prayer meeting for the church is announced for Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hazard.

250 Present For Tustin Carnival

TUSTIN, Oct. 15.—Approximately 250 persons attended the benefit carnival staged Saturday night by the Tustin Pythian Sisters and Knights of Pythias in the lodge hall, with Dr. James Workman acting as master of ceremonies.

The varied program featured a children's parade, cowboy singers, games and vaudeville acts.

Mrs. Nellie Thompson was general chairman in charge of arrangements for the gay event. She was assisted by Mesdames Mabel Hannaford, Hilda Riehl, Clara Blackwell, Emma Christensen, Mary Reynolds, Yvette Shedd, Pearl Furtach, Viola Jessup, Carrie Stearns, Emma Pankey, Ore Collier, Edith Matthews, Mollie Smith, Saray May Matthews, Emma Shearn and Dr. Estelle Workman.

Proceeds from the sale of tickets will be used to defray the expenses of the official staff of the sisters when they attend grand lodge next May at Santa Rosa.

San Francisco's leading jeweler jerseys (Santa Ana) knifing through the Riverside line time after time to drag down Merle Harris, or any other back who happened to have the ball, before they were able to get under way.

The timepieces are awarded on the vote of the fans, and it was a striking encomium when Lawrence Lutz, great Santa Ana tackle of the Golden Bears, got one for his remarkable line play against St. Marys.

No watches are presented when bay teams play away from home. So the University of California itself should dig deep and buy Larry another tickler. Lutz certainly saved the Bears' goose in the Oregon game last Saturday. After his fellow townsmen, Floyd into Oregon terrain and Oregon into Oregon terrain and Oregon had taken the ball on down on its 3-yard-line, Lutz knifed through the Oregon line (as he had been doing all day) and blocked a punt. A Californian recovered for a touch-down, the only one registered in a bruising ball game.

Said Bill Leiser of The Chronicle: "Lutz is a lineman, was a great power against St. Mary's. But I doubt if the man at the podium mentioned his name once. Yet the fans voted for him."

After Lutz's remarkable charging in Oregon, the ancient "Brick" Morris was moved to greater praise. "Grayson and Larry Lutz are the only All-Americans I've seen so far this year. The other Stanford boys who figured to be up there for all American selection must play simply phenomenal football from here in to stand any chance at all. They were good on Saturday, but not good enough to attract attention. A boy who makes All-American must go from the very start and keep going."

Comparing the defeat of Riverside by Santa Ana to the dethroning of Stanford by U.C.L.A., Columnist Wilbur Fogelman of Riverside admits it was a sad week-end for his inland champions: "What a sight it was, those blue

SPRAY LOST TO DONS 2 WEEKS: YOUEL RETURNS

Santa Ana's Dons football team that has had more than its share of injuries this season, took three tell-tale blows to the chin today when it was learned that (1) Center Bob Spray is definitely lost to the squad for two weeks as result of a minor fracture in his left wrist sustained in the Riverside-Don game; (2) End Bill Greshner with a sorely sprained shoulder may be out of the Citrus game; and (3) the cut Halfback Dave Phoenix received in scrimage yesterday is serious enough to keep him from practice the rest of the week.

Spray's injury, which leaves Coach Bill Cook on thin ice as far as centers go, was received in the second quarter of last Friday's tussle and as he played the rest of the game without trouble, it was considered nothing more serious than a sprain. However, late yesterday the bad news came out of the office of the team physician that the lanky Tustinite, who bids fair to be one of the league's leading pivot-men, will be benched for the Citrus and possibly Chaffey games.

Unable to Lift Arm
Greshner's injury is of an extremely painful nature and he is not able to raise his left arm over his head. Medical examinations disclosed no broken bones but a possible major sprain.

Greshner, a pass-snatcher of the first-water, proved against Riverside that despite lack of weight he is a powerful defensive man.

His ability to "drift" with the play makes him a difficult man to remove.

Phoenix, rugged blocker from Newport Harbor, a replacement to Walt Hickman at left half, was injured in scrimage. A blocker missed contact, threw his cleats high in the air and caught Phoenix above the left eye cutting a gash that required eight stitches.

One ray of hope vainly tried to pierce the gloom at the Don training quarters. There is a possibility that Harold Youel, lettermen center who was supposedly lost for the season when he received a head blow in the Don-Pomona college game, may be able to return to grid warfare.

The specialist who handled Youel's case has reported the injury entirely healed and that the wiry snapper-keen is again fit for baton. However, an official okie must be gotten from the team physi-

Stepping through their routine on a rain-soaked mat before the slimpest wrestling crowd of the year, Ivan (The Terrible) Mannagoff and Pat Fraley, ill-tempered heavyweights, indulged in a "no-holds-barred" contest last night at the Orange County Athletic club, with honors going to Fraley in a gross time of 17 minutes.

Outstanding effect of the battle, which went to three falls, was contributed by Ivan in the first tumbler. It came about in this wise: Tricky Mr. Fraley had just chased the Russian hero out of the ring with two thumbs to it.

Five games—one in each section of the country—bring together 10 of these exclusive teams.

The banner battle of the day will be in the Mid-West between Pittsburgh's Panthers and Notre Dame. On form the Irish, supposed to have their best team since 1931, should win.

In the East Yale's speedy Blues clash with a Navy team that has plenty of power but which has yet to encounter an opponent warranting its use. North Carolina State stakes its clean slate against Georgia while Rice and Southern Methodist meet in the Southwest's contribution.

Washington and Washington State, keen rivals from the Northwest's lumber belt, meet in the Pacific Coast's undefeated-untied group.

Flying tackles minus the famed Fordham Flip spelled trouble for Casey Kasanian, burly ex-Stanford football, in his brawl with Major Anderson a wrenched knee.

The reserves today had a tentative practice game on the fire with San Clemente CCC camp. Only players who didn't see action against Riverside will be used.

According to Youel, who scouted the Citrus-San Bernardino game last Friday night, the Dons can expect anything when they meet the Owls Friday night. Coach Al Claves' men play an unorthodox brand of football and often pass or run the ball on fourth down while in midfield instead of punting. In Quarterback Jimmy Montgomery, Santa Ana will be up against a runner as hard to stop as Riverside's Merle Harris. Although not as shifty, Montgomery is faster.

In case of continued rain and the Municipal Bowl does not draw properly, the Citrus-Don game may have to be held at Poly field on Friday or Saturday afternoon.

P. G. A. TITLE LINKS PROVES SEVERE TEST

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 15. (UPI)—The professional golfing mighty of the nation, warming up for their national tournament, went out to test the Twin Hills course today and came in feeling that instead the course had tested them. "It's a perfect course," said Gene Sarazen, the Connecticut agriculturist. "It will take a lot of golf to beat it and I'm afraid it is going to provide many headaches."

Dorset Carter sr., who built the course and has prepared it for the tournament which starts Thursday, beamed happily at the praise bestowed upon his handiwork.

The play starts Thursday morning with 36 holes of qualifying medal. The low 64 of the 125 or so entries will start match play with the 18-hole rounds Friday, cutting the field to 16. There will be 36-hole rounds on Saturday, Sunday and Monday and the final round Tuesday.

Paul Runyon, the White Plains, N. Y., ace will be defending his title, hot from his victory last week in the Louisville tournament. Sam Parks, the National Open champion, and Gene Kunes, who holds the Canadian championship, are hopeful of adding another title. Sarazen, not mentioning himself, likes the chances of Horton Smith, Walter Hagen, always a threat, will be firing them off the tee, too.

Colonists Vote To Continue Grid Schedule

Because they believed their late comrade would want them to do so, members of Anaheim's high school football squad will play out its schedule despite the death of Quarterback John Ochoa. . .

Meeting late yesterday, the Colonists voted unanimously to "carry on," and school authorities said they would be governed by the team's decision. Joe and Frank Ochoa, brothers of Johnny, said it was their desire that the team continue the season.

Practice will be resumed tomorrow afternoon, Coach Dick Glover said. The players have not reported since Ochoa passed away Saturday.

An inquest into the athlete's death was held in Anaheim today. A coroner's jury found that Ochoa died from a sub-dural hemorrhage. It absolved Anaheim school officials from all blame or responsibility, stating that they and the attending physician, Dr. Harold Neslund, had done everything possible for the boy.

FRALEY FLOPS MANNAGOFF ON RAIN-WET MAT

Whether Mac Beall, Santa Ana high school's first string quarterback, will be able to lead the Saint football team into its first Coast league game at Long Beach Saturday, was still in doubt yesterday.

The squad's physician said that three x-ray pictures, taken at a hospital after Beall was injured at Santa Barbara, showed no evidence of fracture.

"The injury is not as serious as originally anticipated but it will be a couple of days before we'll know whether it will be safe for him to go this week," the doctor added. "We do not want to run any chances."

Beall himself, hero of the Saints' 13-7 win over Santa Barbara with a 55-yard run to the second touchdown, is anxious to resume action. He was up and around today after spending Sunday and Monday in confinement, his back securely taped.

If Beall is unable to start, Coach Bill Foote indicated he would rely on little Harold Tucker, his second string quarter. A brother of Sammy, former Santa Ana star and Jaycee star, Tucker is a smart field general and a fairly good blocker despite his mere 130 pounds. Beall weighs 155.

The Saints took it easy yesterday, those who saw action at Santa Barbara doing little more than limber up by passing, running and kicking. There will be no scrimmage this week, Foote said.

Aside from Beall, the team is in good shape. Captain Erwin Youel's knee is as sound as ever and Fullback Bill Musick's charley horse has disappeared. Tackle Bob Reid has a sore thumb but it is a minor bruise.

TROUBLE AHEAD FOR UNDEFEATED TEAMS

NEW YORK, Oct. 15. (UPI)—The nation's list of undefeated and untied gridiron giants is in for severe jolt this weekend.

Of 30 major elevens boasting perfect records, five are certain to emerge with black marks while eight more stand better than even chances of being knocked from the select group.

Five games—one in each section of the country—bring together 10 of these exclusive teams.

The banner battle of the day will be in the Mid-West between Pittsburgh's Panthers and Notre Dame. On form the Irish, supposed to have their best team since 1931, should win.

In the East Yale's speedy Blues clash with a Navy team that has plenty of power but which has yet to encounter an opponent warranting its use. North Carolina State stakes its clean slate against Georgia while Rice and Southern Methodist meet in the Southwest's contribution.

A gent known as the "Masked Marvel," with a Hallowe'en complex and wide shoulders, made mince-meat of Henry Karpolis in what should have been a preliminary but went on last, due to the rain. The mysterious gentleman walked all over his outclassed foe for about 3:15, and dumped him for the decision with a non-chalant body-slam.

In the opener Jose Valdez, "pride of Mexico," defeated George Paulous in 13:02 with a backward body slam.

AILMENTS TAKE TOLL

Minor ailments also have taken their toll. Guard Howard Rash has a cold, Tackle Bill Shields a carbuncle on his cheek, Quarter Major Anderson a wrenched knee.

The reserves today had a tentative practice game on the fire with San Clemente CCC camp. Only players who didn't see action against Riverside will be used.

According to Youel, who scouted the Citrus-San Bernardino game last Friday night, the Dons can expect anything when they meet the Owls Friday night. Coach Al Claves' men play an unorthodox brand of football and often pass or run the ball on fourth down while in midfield instead of punting. In Quarterback Jimmy Montgomery, Santa Ana will be up against a runner as hard to stop as Riverside's Merle Harris. Although not as shifty, Montgomery is faster.

In case of continued rain and the Municipal Bowl does not draw properly, the Citrus-Don game may have to be held at Poly field on Friday or Saturday afternoon.

Santa Anans Tie Champs In Golf, 6-6

Titular hopes flamed brightly at the Santa Ana Country club today, following the 6-6 tie the women's golf squad played here yesterday with Mountain Meadows, champions of Southern California last year.

Two-and-a-half points fetched by the fourth combination, Mrs. B. W. McClure and Mrs. Osman Pixley, enabled the Santa Anans to gain an even break of the points.

DESIGN

Growth of a new profession—redesigning of all types of industrial products—is interpreted by New York analysts as a symptom of reviving prosperity and an earnest of rebuilding to come which should certainly help to promote and maintain employment. The novel angle is that many leading industrial corporations are turning to outside experts in design instead of trying to do in their own plants a job now recognized as specialized.

Insiders agree that both are right in anticipating some form of inflation and in claiming that it's up to the Federal Reserve Board rather than the Exchange or the SEC to apply the brakes before the economic machine gets out of control. But they don't think it was quite tactful of the Exchange boss and one of Mr. Roosevelt's own appointees to remind the President so bluntly that he'd better name some good men to the new Reserve Board or else.

Moreover, they doubt that the foresight of Messrs. Landis and Gay in setting up alibis before the event will do them any good if the public gets burned in a replica of the '29 debacle. It's the public's habit to pin the blame for its losses on the handiest target without bothering about fundamental causes—and Gay and Landis will be right in the line of fire if anything goes wrong.

SHORTEST
The sustained increase in electric power production deeply impresses New York experts. If gains continue at their recent pace it's estimated that additional power production capacity will be urgently needed by next summer. Existing facilities won't be able to carry the load.

The gains trace chiefly to stepped-up industrial consumption—which is now close to 1929 peak levels. And yet—although recovery is rapidly gaining momentum—industrial activity itself hasn't begun to approach its former peak. This apparent riddle has a very significant answer—the greater proportionate use of electric power as against man power in manufacturing.

So electric statistics—encouraging in themselves—reflect vividly also the major reason why re-employment isn't keeping pace with the business comeback. It's hardly possible to scrap the technological improvement indicated by these figures. Even conservatives are more and more inclined to admit

Citrus White Fly Pest Eliminated In Orange County

NOTE PROGRESS
ALSO IN FIGHT AGAINST SNAIL

Steady progress in the pest control problem of eradicating the citrus white fly has resulted in the ending of treatments to rid Orange County of the pest, Agricultural Commissioner D. W. Tubbs announced today.

In 1931 the white fly pest was found in Santa Ana and Tustin groves. Immediate steps were taken to rid the affected territory of the pest, and now after more than three years of treatment no more live pests of the white fly variety can be found, Tubbs said. A few scattered treatments were made on individual trees this week.

The next move in the battle against the pest is an inspection nature. Tubbs, who is local supervisor for the state department of agriculture, will oversee rigid inspections for the next two years to be sure that the white fly pest does not reappear.

Costs Would Increase
If the white fly pest were general over the county, Tubbs said, the pest control costs in the county would be increased by 50 per cent, or a half-million dollars. About one million dollars now is spent on pest control work annually here.

The campaign against the dangerous pest was started in the state in 1926, according to D. B. Mackie, state pest control supervisor, and has been continued since that time. It originally was believed that the pest infested only three southern cities, but it subsequently was found to spread over an area involving 3000 square miles in nine counties.

Tubbs also announced today that the battle against the white snail pest during the past two years has been most successful. A persistent campaign has reduced the numbers of the pests from large infestations to relatively small numbers. Heavily infested areas have been burned over and poison has been successful in reducing the numbers of this pest, which attacks almost any plant.

In Great Britain apricot stones are manufactured into face powder; in Germany, they are made into high explosives.

Many Trees
Of Unusual
Type Grown

By Marah Adams

Ever since Joyce Kilmer called attention to the sterling qualities of trees in general, sentiments which have been more or less ruined by numbers of tenors and others who will sing "Trees" whether they can warble or no, more and more persons are taking an interest in arboreal culture.

A person having the temerity to mention cutting down a tree now is met with a plea taken from their old third readers, "Woodman Spare That Tree." Or perhaps they may receive a stern injunction from a city authority if the tree's desire to remove is from a place in front of their homes, daring them to remove the tree no matter if it has been buckling up expensive sidewalks.

Old Trees Safe

Among some of the oldest trees in the county which have never been threatened with extinction because they dropped their leaves or because their branches spread over so great an area that they became entangled with each other, are the great trees on the old Henri Gardner place on South Glassell street, Orange, at the edge of the Santiago creek, many of which were planted about the year 1874.

The quiet charm which is experienced when entering the shelter afforded by the dense growth, must be felt as it cannot be described. The past seems to press close, white roses on a giant vine are unfolding what must be just a few of the thousands and thousands of blooms since the vine was planted near the doorstep of the old Gardner home.

Vines and Trees

The vine measures 42 inches in circumference and it was planted March 7, 1875. A pride of China tree covers the house with its branches and its trunk is supported with two cement columns. Some of the rarer trees are a rainbow palm, a ribbon palm, a she oak, an Australian tree with leaves resembling those of a pine, a feather palm, a cypress which is about eight feet in diameter, a Klondike English walnut of a variety originated by the late Henri Gardner, one of the county's pioneers.

One of the interesting shrubs is a trumpet vine sometimes called the apple of death, clumps of bamboo are as tall as the trees, there is an unusual smoke vine and, of course, are numerous century plants, one of which blossomed for the first time this year, dying afterward, as is the customary practice of century plants.

One of the trees is filled with two woodpeckers having pecked steadily at the trunk for a long time and actually working in 20-minute shifts, Miss Margaret Gardner and Mrs. Orra Devereux, daughters of the Gardners state.

HOLD MEETING OF CALIFORNIA
ALUMNI OCT. 31$27,000 In Chest Fund
Up To Date

Community Chest leaders and workers today will launch the cleanup end of the campaign in Santa Ana which to date has raised about $27,000 of the goal of $32,225.55 set for this year.

Directors of the Chest were scheduled to meet at 4:15 o'clock this afternoon in the Y. M. C. A. rooms to map out a plan for picking up the loose ends in the campaign.

Capt. W. K. Hillyard, chairman of the Chest board of directors, anticipated little trouble in raising the amount set for the drive this year. He pointed out that there are many big contributions scheduled to come in yet, including some of the large establishments of the city which have not yet reported.

Yesterday afternoon a meeting of representatives of the various agencies represented in the Chest was held to discuss the Chest situation.

The meeting was held in the Community Chest headquarters in the Spurgeon building.

STATE HEAD OF DAV TO SPEAK
AT MEET HERE

The first of a series of outstanding programs of the fall season will be presented under the auspices of the Jack Fisher chapter, Disabled American Veterans of the World War, tomorrow evening at the K. C. Hall at 8 o'clock, according to an announcement by W. L. Brown, chapter commander.

It is fitting that the first of these meetings will mark the official visit of C. Bert Allen, of San Diego, state commander of the D. A. V. organization, who is well known locally for his vigorous efforts in behalf of disabled veterans during the passage of the Economy Act in March 1933, Brown said.

Commander Allen, decorated with the Distinguished Service Cross for an act of bravery during the World War, will speak on "The Second Phase of the Economy Act," dealing with legislation which will come up at the next session of congress. His three years as department adjutant, combined with his present office of state commander, gives Allen a thorough understanding of the problems of the disabled veteran, it was stated, and he is a proven leader and a speaker of exceptional ability.

Chapter Commander Brown issued a cordial invitation to all disabled veterans to hear Allen's address, arrangements being made to accommodate an unusually large attendance on this occasion. An entertainment program followed by a luncheon will conclude festivities.

Preceding the meeting a dinner will be given at James' cafe in honor of Commander Allen and his party for which reservations must be made with V. L. Brown, phone 5030 or C. A. Spurrier at 5224-J.

Sales of new passenger automobiles in Metropolitan New York for the first eight months of 1935 totaled 91,692 units as compared with 76,050 for the same period of 1934.

RUN AT WALKER'S

George Raft in Dashiel Hammett's murder mystery, "The Glass Key," and Victor Jory and Jean Arthur in "Party Wire," a romantic drama, are the feature films on the double bill at Walker's State theater tomorrow and Thursday.

"The Glass Key" tells how Raft as an aide to a political boss, Edward Arnold, solves a murder mystery concerning the son of the man Arnold is supporting for senate and which threatens to engulf both Arnold and Raft. Claire Dodd and Gunn Williams are in the cast.

"Party Wire" tells the story of vicious gossip in a small town where everyone listens when the party phone rings. Geneva Mitten, Helen Lowell and Charles Grapewin have important roles.

The program also includes one of the newest cameraman's adventure reels, "Tracking the cast.

Registration will begin at 9:30 a. m. according to an announcement made by Mrs. W. T. Kirven, president of Fourth District. After conference sessions, Mrs. H. C. ## PAST AND FUTURE MEET IN BAY

Past and future met at the Golden Gate entrance to San Francisco Bay, when the old full-rigged ship Star of Zeland, outbound, passed the Golden Gate Bridge construction—world's largest single-suspension span. The Star of Zeland is en route to Osaka, to deliver a cargo of scrap metal and herself to be reduced to scrap metal for Japanese industry. The Star was one of the metal windjammers used in the Alaska fishing trade until steam superseded them.

SWEATERS GIVEN TO
J. C. YELL LEADERS
Will Inform
Car Drivers
Of 1936 Tax

Members of the newly elected Santa Ana Junior college yell leading team have been presented with college sweaters by the Associated Students executive board.

Decision to make the presentation was made by a budget allotment made at the last board meeting.

The sweaters are in the style of red vests, following the school colors of black and red and consisting of the yell leaders' outfit of black skirts or pants; red, black, and white socks; white shoes; and white shirts.

No similar presentation was made last year by the board except for budget economy, Miss Louise Sexton, Associated Students secretary stated. The choice of style and color for the sweaters was decided upon by the yell leaders themselves.

Members of the team who received the gifts were Gus Gilbert, John Henry, Margaret Ellen Sawyer and Betty Lee.

Misses Bailey and Pranke were elected president and treasurer of the Santa Ana Junior college Women's Athletic association at a recent election held by the organization.

The newly elected officers replace the Misses Marjorie Launderbach and Frances Tibbets, who were elected last year but failed to return to the college this semester.

They will serve on the W. A. A. cabinet along with Miss Betty Lee, president, and Mrs. Ruth Kibboure, secretary.

Miss Bailey is a second semester freshman at the college and a member of the La Meninas service club. Miss Pranke is a sophomore and has been a member of the W. A. A. for the past year.

Birthday "Open House" Attracts Many Friends Of Celebrant

Continuing yesterday afternoon the open-house hospitality which they introduced Sunday, Mrs. Frank Bemus and her daughter and granddaughter, Miss Hazel Neil Bemus and Mrs. Farla Neil Clayton, received a succession of guests in their sea-side home, "Lanai Kai," at 2708 Victoria drive, Laguna Beach, complimenting Mr. Bemus on the 80th anniversary of his birth.

To the manifold charms of this home on its cliff high above the beat of the surf, was added the colorful beauty of autumn flowers, many of which were sent as tributes and good wishes to the birthday celebrant. He also received a quantity of attractive cards as well as gifts from closer personal friends.

Punch and cake were served throughout both afternoons by Mrs. Bemus, Miss Bemus and Miss Clayton, and the majority of visitors made each afternoon an occasion for extended lingering rather than mere formal calls to express congratulations.

Among those entertained during the two afternoons were Frank Phillips, Miss Jean Phillips, Miss Nellie Clingan, Miss Frances Knudson, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Schroeder, Lowell Schroeder, Miss Mildred Tummond, Miss Viola Tummond, Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Weston, Mrs. Frances Hunter, Miss Margaret Besson, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Robinson, Miss Louise Robinson, J. H. Devotions were led by Wheeler Birdwell and several musical numbers were presented by the C. E. orchestra including Russel and Wayne Fury, Lois and Doris Hart.

Girls' Ebells Society

Popular songs by a vocal trio comprised of the Misses Bonnie Wilson, Agnes Brady and Marjane Belcher with Helen Holmes accompanying at the piano were featured at the meeting of Girls' Ebells society Friday afternoon. The Misses Helen Blanche Andrews and Mary Ellem Dudley were co-hostesses in the home of the former's aunt, Mrs. J. E. Liebig, 820 Spurgeon street. About 30 members were in attendance.

Miss Barbara Rowland home for the week-end from Scripps college where she is a freshman, gave a talk on her experiences of the summer in the Salinas rodeo and the trip to Hawaii which followed her victory there.

Refreshments of open faced sandwiches, cake, candy, nuts and other dainties were served at a long table centered with large lambs in rich shades.

Miss Marguerite Pimental, 1324 Martha Lane, will be hostess for the next meeting on October 25.

Stewart Wille, noted pianist, will be the assisting artist for Lawrence Tibbett, noted dramatic baritone, during his program with Don Voorhees' Orchestra over KHJ at 5:30 this evening.

A new Sigmund Romberg tune will be played for the first time on the Swift Studio Party broadcast, over KFI at 7 tonight.

How a desperate bandit was trapped by a loquacious old hill billy who loved to tell stories and how at the point of a gun he was forced to listen to his captor's favorite yarn will be narrated by Hal Burdick, the Night Editor, over KFI at 8:15 tonight.

WEDNESDAY

The sixth series of programs under the auspices of the National Student Federation of the United States will open over KHJ at 1 p.m. Wednesday. This new series, which bears the general title of "Youth Today" will deal with economic, social, political and international problem which directly affect the lives of students today.

"SALMON DERBY" IS BROADCAST TOPIC

The "Seattle Salmon Derby" and all its ramifications will be discussed in tomorrow's broadcast of "Romance Under the Water" from KREG at 11 a.m., another in the series of broadcasts prepared by United States Commissioner of Fisheries Frank T. Bell.

In my radio remarks for tomorrow I have no words for the gentleman who takes a total of 12 ounces of expensive tackle, travels 20 miles beyond the sound of the nearest human voice and calls it a day well-spent if he garners 10 ounces of trout. I intend to speak on organized angling with competition, prizes, bands and ballyhoo as the accompanying features," Commissioner Bell said.

These stone trees, relics perhaps of the time before dinosaurs roamed the earth, are a fascinating challenge to the imagination. There is so much one would like to know about them—when and where they grew, what the species and how they changed from living wood to inanimate rock.

These broadcasts, scheduled daily, except Sundays, at the same hour, are prepared by the U. S. Department of the Interior, National Park Service.

INSTRUMENTS IN SYMPHONY TO BE DESCRIBED

Beginning tomorrow at 5:30 p.m., one of the most interesting of the adult education broadcasts from KREG will be heard when Leland Auer, instructor in band and orchestra in the Santa Ana Junior College and High School, will give the first of 12 lectures on the "Instruments of the Modern Symphony Orchestra and the Musical sounds they produce."

Beginning with several lectures on the science of the sounds we hear, and acoustics in general, the series will describe in detail and with demonstrations all the instruments of the modern symphony orchestra. Listeners are advised to hear the first of these most interesting lectures and to follow them through every Wednesday at the same hour, as they will undoubtedly be one of the most educating and instructive series of broadcasts on the air.

Leland Auer will be remembered for his series of "Armchair Talks on Music" broadcasts from KREG last season in which he told of the folk lore of music of the peoples of little-known countries.

KREG NOTES

O. Carlson, former teacher of political science at the University of Chicago, who with address the Santa Ana Junior College P.T. A. tonight, will be heard on the adult education broadcast to be made from KREG this evening at 5:30.

"Simple Avne," "Punchinello," two of Carrie Jacobs Bond's compositions, and the popular number, "Page Miss Glory," will be included in tonight's presentation of piano melodies by Delle Hamilton on KREG at 6:45.

"Good-bye, My Lover, Good-bye," "Little Rag Doll," "The Cowboys Dance Song," "O! Faithful" and "While I Rock Our Babies to Sleep," will comprise tonight's program of familiar old songs by Thelma Jones, "The Western Sweetheart," on KREG at 8 o'clock.

THE TINYMITES

Story by HAL COCHRAN Pictures by GEORGE SCARBO

The chariots were rather light that. The dog is trying to nip the cat." Then Dotty said, "I'm going to save the little cat, somehow."

Whee Windy shouted. "This is fun! We haven't set a goal yet. We hasn't set a goal yet. Gee, of all the crazy rides."

Then Duncy, his wee rival, said, "We'll race up to that tree, ahead, and then turn 'round and race right back to where we started from."

"Be careful at the turn, or we will spill, a silly thing to do. If you will watch my driving, you will see I'm far from dumb."

"Ha, ha," laughed Windy. "That's real nice, but I won't follow your advice. You hope that I will slow down. Then you'll run away from me."

"If you can make the turn real quick, I, too, can do it pretty slick." And then they heard the farmer, who was watching them, yell, "Whee!"

"The race has turned out quite a thrill. I hope the lads don't take a spill. I'm going to give the one who wins a bottle of cold pop."

Then Dotty said, "They're side by side. I must admit those lads can ride. I wonder how they're ever going to make the two dogs stop?"

"Don't worry," she heard Scouty shout. "The hounds soon will be all tired out. They'll flop down of their own accord, unless I miss my guess."

Just then a cat raced into sight, and filled the Tinymites with fright. "Oh, that means trouble," Goldy cried. "Twill end up in a mess."

And she was right. Poor Duncy's hound spied the old cat and swang around. "There goes the race," yelled Copy. "It's a cat and dog chase, now."

"Oh, goodness me, just look at

TAKE FINGERPRINTS IN MYSTERY CASE

Checking of fingerprints found in the apartment of Miss Grace Shults, 207 North Glassell street, Orange, following an attack by a burglar some time Sunday night or Monday morning was underway here today. R. R. Lutes, fingerprint expert of the sheriff's office, is studying fingerprints found in Miss Shults' apartment.

Miss Shults was able to resume her work at the Tustin Union High school this morning. She has a large bruise on her forehead.

According to the story the teacher told officers, she retired about 10 o'clock Sunday night and sometime during the night a burglar crawled into the room. When she screamed he struck her on the head, then bound her hands and feet, she related. The apartment was ransacked but nothing was taken, she said.

STRANGE AS IT SEEKS—By JOHN HIX

The author's great address the author, confirming a signed envelope for reply. Box C. P. O. Box 100.

When Nero, Emperor of Rome, decided to murder his mother, his cruel fancy reached a new high—he had a boat built especially for her, one designed so that it would fall to pieces at a given signal. With all the attention of an affectionate son, he received her on a visit and then induced her to board the death ship. The plot went off according to plan, except for one mistake—Nero had not counted on his mother's ability to swim. She escaped by swimming out of the wreckage and safely reached her own home, but soon her home was surrounded by soldiers of the Emperor who then and there killed her in cold blood.

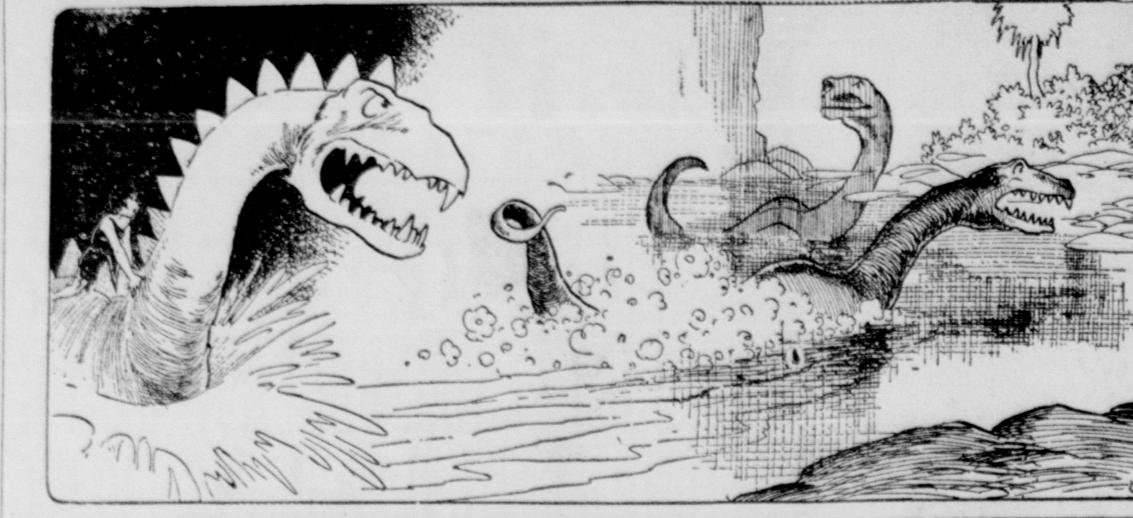

After the murder, Nero was panic stricken by his own act. It was not until six months later that he entered Rome for the first time his fears were allayed by officially spread reports that his mother had fallen victim to her own plot against him.

At Bhir, India, there still remains a memory of the fourteenth century sultan, Mohammed Toghak, a tomb built and dedicated to his extracted tooth. The sultan, suffering from a toothache, had the offending tooth pulled. He then caused to be erected a magnificent tomb where the dead tooth was buried in the midst of a barbaric ceremony.

Annoyed by the umpire calling several faults against him, Bill Tilden made sure of legal serve by standing almost flat-footed to serve the final game of the 1927 French championship. Even though he faced the formidable Renee Lacoste, he won with four straight sets.

Tomorrow: Bloodless Battle.

WESTMINSTER

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Walton and daughter and son, Winifred and Keith, and Marvin and Delbert Penhall motored to LaVerne, Sunday, and were guests in the home of an uncle, Nathaniel Walton.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Penhall arrived Sunday at Pomona with Mr. and Mrs. William Hannagan. They found the baby son of the Hannagans had been suffering the past week from second degree burns, the result of his upsetting a pot of hot tea.

Mrs. Edna Day was a recent visitor in Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cook and family spent Sunday at Tujunga with Mrs. Cook's parents.

Dale Walker had a close call from serious injury when his motorcycle was struck by a car driven by a Mexican. The motorcycle was damaged and Walker was thrown some distance.

Dr. Haun, nerve specialist of Long Beach, has purchased the former J. W. Montgomery place south of the Finley service station and has moved here with his family to make his home. The place which includes one and a half acres of land fully equipped for poultry, has a large frame house.

VOLCK

In July of this year a certain grove was sprayed with Volck for Purple Scale, Red Scale, and a heavy infestation of Black Scale. The owner nearly three months later is in receipt of the following letter:

"The spraying has given a very good control of the scale in your grove. Only a mere trace of red or purple scale can be found on an occasional tree. Very little black scale can be found alive in the grove now. No further treatment of any kind should be needed on the ranch soon."

"C. H. RUSSELL,
Entomologist Association Laboratory."

You can buy Volck in gallon, quart, or pint cans at this store. A pint will make six gallons of spray. Literally millions of gallons are being used in Orange County this year. It is fine on shrubbery, roses, etc., for scale, aphids, mildew and spiders. Call us at 274. Possibly we can aid you with your pest problems.

GERMANY TIGHTENS HER BELT

Ever since the beginning of the year, there have been recurrent shortages of various foods in Germany. First, it was onions, then potatoes, then fruit, then eggs, then meat, now butter and other fats.

The German government explains that there is enough of all foods to go around, but that some people are hoarding and for that reason petty inspectors and super-patriots have the privilege of snatching shopping bags and examining purchases.

As in war time, queues of housewives are forming in front of stores on the principle that the "early bird catches the worm." Food "bootlegging" and foraging expeditions into the country are beginning to reappear.

The spectacle of food shortage in a civilized country, when the world seems strangled with a surplus of food, would appear entirely unnecessary.

Undoubtedly the boycott against Germany's goods is having its effect, but more serious is the fact that too great a proportion of such exportable surpluses as Germany has had, has been converted into war materials.

For the time being, Germany seemed to have solved her unemployment problem by placing a large number of men in the new army, by sending thousands to labor camps similar to our own C.C.C. camps, and by setting other thousands to work making war materials, but now the goods that should have been produced and sold for whatever they would bring, are not available.

Germany has been able to buy raw materials in international markets, largely because she has used money which other nations insist should have been paid as interest and principal on debts. She has also been able to purchase them because some of her people were able to make private loans.

The time has come now when Germany would like to buy food and supplies on credit, but her record in debt reducing, when it is difficult to pay, is such that few people can be induced to make either private or public loans. It is probable that the Germans will be taking the advice of Finance Minister Dr. Hjalmar Schact and tightening their belts.

Even inexpensive foreign foods will not be available in sufficient quantities, and as Hitler growls at Stalin, the latter can now leer back, for food cards are no longer necessary in Russia. The public can buy all the bread, meat and butter they can pay for at regular prices in Russia today.

GEORGE BERNARD SHAW ON ETHIOPIA

One of the few dissenting voices heard in England today is that of the world-famous playwright, Irish wit, critic and socialist.

Mr. Shaw contends that Italy should have a free hand; that a mistake was made when Ethiopia was admitted to the League of Nations, and the fact that Italy sponsored Ethiopia as a desirable member of the family of nations has no bearing on the matter.

Ethiopia is a tribal nation, says Shaw, with no central government able to enforce its laws on all its members and with its citizenship owing allegiance, not to the emperor, but to some tribal chieftain.

Expressing the Nietzschean philosophy that the strongest economic unit will in the end dominate and subject weaker economic units, he takes the position that the tribal civilization of Ethiopia will ultimately come under the rule of some better organized power, in any event.

England has obtained her share of the globe and should not begrudge Italy that which remains, but rather be glad that she is willing to assume this part of the "white man's burden," he believes.

He is reminding his fellow countrymen that the British empire is, by an overwhelming majority, a colored empire. Britain's problem is to overcome the disaffection that will arise in Africa as the result of Italy's campaign, whether successful or not; to maintain order in the balance of her colored domain, and to take a position such that when hostilities cease, England can continue her profitable trading relationship with Italy.

Shaw is taking the position that has motivated England in her conquests during the past century.

Whether the high idealism which, at the moment, seems to be guiding the English diplomats, is only a gesture to preserve the skeleton of the League of Nations, or whether it heralds the dawn of a new day in international relationships, will be disclosed by coming events.

For the present, if one took Shaw at face value, it would be best not to become excited about the "new deal" in English foreign policy.

NOVEL IDEA

The town of Acton in Massachusetts recently held a town meeting to vote on the question of raising the necessary money for relief. Acton is the town that furnished the men who fought the battle of Concord. In Acton they say that for the famous battle by the bridge in 1775, Concord furnished the battle field, but Acton furnished the men.

Squire Stevens rose in town meeting and advocated sending all those in need of relief to Porto Rico. It is cold in Acton in winter, and he "allowed" that it would be cheaper to support them in a warm climate than in a cold climate. They would not need so much clothing, and living costs generally would be cheaper.

Squire Stevens had it all figured out. You can count on a New England squire to do some extensive "figgering." But the town, after hearing the squire, voted $1000 to relieve the indigent in Acton. That ended the matter.

But at any rate, one of Acton's citizens gave the matter serious thought, and he had a platform to express his views. That is what a town meeting does. Nothing like giving every citizen a voice in the councils of the town.

Incidentally, this suggestion by the Squire, that they be sent to Porto Rico, brings to our mind that it might be well for California to put in her claim as a cheap place to live. May be many of the cities, which have to keep the needy, could save money by keeping them in California. There is no doubt but that the beneficiaries would greatly prefer California to Porto Rico as a regular diet.

Seriously, we are rather of the opinion that the recipients of need should themselves be permitted to choose whether they would stay in their home town or go to the milder climate. Some whose ties are strong would rather starve to death at home than live in luxury, but banished from their firesides.

HAND IT TO GEORGE LANSBURY

George Lansbury is the honored veteran chief of the English Labor party. The Labor party has always stood for international peace. But so strongly have the leaders felt over the invasion of Ethiopia that they have been calling for action against Italy.

Not so George Lansbury. He continues to be a pacifist. He will not stand for the exercise of military force or sanctions against Italy. So he has resigned his leadership of the Labor party. He is standing alone. All his colleagues respect him and love him, but none will follow him.

The world admires a man who is willing to stand alone. George Lansbury is an old man, with many years of heroic public service behind him. Were he younger, we wonder whether he might not follow in the wake of Lloyd George and Ramsey MacDonald, who also took a lone stand in former days—one against the Boer war, the other against the World war.

Both of them lived to be Prime Minister of England. It would not be at all unlikely. The English people do admire a man who stands alone.

MORE PIGS AND LOWER PRICES

The president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, Secretary Wallace and the AAA Consumers' Council have met in Washington and decided that prices of pork must come down.

The farmers admit that they would like to sell more hogs, the meat packers insist they must butcher more hogs, and the consumers insist that they want more pork.

As a result, there should be a great rush to inform the hogs about it.

Far from feeling that the program has been a failure, the American Farm Bureau Federation is insisting that the hog production control system is a powerful force for prosperity.

Meat packers warned the hog raisers that if present prices do not come down, there will be a permanent decrease in the demand for meat products, bringing ruin to producers and processors alike.

Public Defender Proves Value
Long Beach Press-Telegram

Full as important as convicting and punishing the criminal is to protect against conviction and imprisonment of those innocent persons who are accused of crimes which they did not commit. Frederic H. Varcoe, public defender for Los Angeles County, made this assertion in a recent address.

Los Angeles County in 1914 put into its charter a provision for establishing the position of public defender. This was the first move of the kind in the United States. Since that time every State in the Union and all important cities and counties have created the office of public defender.

Mr. Varcoe, who has been public defender for many years and started as deputy in the new office the year it was created, shows by statistics that his office by its ministrations, saves Los Angeles County fully $200,000 yearly by keeping 500 or 600 cases of criminal charges from going to trial in the courts. This is done largely by dismissals where his office convinces the District Attorney's office that convictions cannot be had; and by inducing those under charges to plead guilty, if proof shows that they are guilty, thus avoiding the expense of court trials.

If all criminal charges came to trial, Mr. Varcoe says, Los Angeles County would have to have four more criminal courts, thus saddling a heavy additional burden upon the taxpayers.

Mr. Varcoe says that by far the most important service his position renders is to represent men and women who are innocent against evidence that would bring convictions. He cited several instances in which innocent men have been tried, convicted and sent to prison in this State who later were proved innocent and were pardoned by the Governor.

Convictions of the innocent are largely due, Mr. Varcoe says, to the testimony of persons who saw crimes committed and who carelessly claim to identify some accused person as being the guilty party.

Justice should be dispensed even-handedly. Society must be protected against crime and the criminal. And even more important is it to protect the innocent member of society against conviction and imprisonment on groundless charges.

California's Tourist Crop
San Francisco Chronicle

Further explanation of the extraordinary number of out-of-state automobiles seen on the streets of San Francisco, as well as on the highways, comes with the October bulletin of Californians Inc.

This year is breaking all records for tourist travel to California. August brought 129,691 automobile tourists across the state line. That is 43 per cent more than in the same month last year. More than half of these came in by the northern and central gateways. The first eight months of the year brought in 601,801 motor tourists.

Remarkable, too, is the fact that the influx is keeping up in contrast to the usual ending of the tourist season about Labor Day. On the railroads the continuing demand for tickets to California has resulted in extension of the summer low fare season to November 30.

Californians Inc. estimate that tourists will spend $235,000,000 in California this year, $20,000,000 in Oregon and $42,000,000 in Washington. This puts the tourist industry up at about the top in California crop statistics.

Nothing like giving every citizen a voice in the councils of the town.

Incidentally, this suggestion by the Squire, that they be sent to Porto Rico, brings to our mind that it might be well for California to put in her claim as a cheap place to live. May be many of the cities, which have to keep the needy, could save money by keeping them in California. There is no doubt but that the beneficiaries would greatly prefer California to Porto Rico as a regular diet.

Seriously, we are rather of the opinion that the recipients of need should themselves be permitted to choose whether they would stay in their home town or go to the milder climate. Some whose ties are strong would rather starve to death at home than live in luxury, but banished from their firesides.

As in war time, queues of housewives are forming in front of stores on the principle that the "early bird catches the worm." Food "bootlegging" and foraging expeditions into the country are beginning to reappear.

The spectacle of food shortage in a civilized country, when the world seems strangled with a surplus of food, would appear entirely unnecessary.

Undoubtedly the boycott against Germany's goods is having its effect, but more serious is the fact that too great a proportion of such exportable surpluses as Germany has had, has been converted into war materials.

For the time being, Germany seemed to have solved her unemployment problem by placing a large number of men in the new army, by sending thousands to labor camps similar to our own C.C.C. camps, and by setting other thousands to work making war materials, but now the goods that should have been produced and sold for whatever they would bring, are not available.

Germany has been able to buy raw materials in international markets, largely because she has used money which other nations insist should have been paid as interest and principal on debts. She has also been able to purchase them because some of her people were able to make private loans.

The time has come now when Germany would like to buy food and supplies on credit, but her record in debt reducing, when it is difficult to pay, is such that few people can be induced to make either private or public loans. It is probable that the Germans will be taking the advice of Finance Minister Dr. Hjalmar Schact and tightening their belts.

Even inexpensive foreign foods will not be available in sufficient quantities, and as Hitler growls at Stalin, the latter can now leer back, for food cards are no longer necessary in Russia. The public can buy all the bread, meat and butter they can pay for at regular prices in Russia today.
